Native Evergreens for Winter Interest

By Elaine Mills, Extension Master Gardener

Winter is a time when we especially look to evergreen plants to provide interest in our gardens. Take a look at several native species which can add beauty to your home landscape while providing support to wildlife.

The familiar berry-like drupes of American Holly (Ilex opaca), often used in holiday decorations, remain on this evergreen tree from October into winter on female plants, providing food for 18 bird species. (A male tree is required within 200 feet to assure fruit production.) The 15- to 40-foot tree can be used in the garden as a specimen or a tall hedge, providing cover and nesting sites for birds.

A native shrub to consider is Winter-berry (Ilex verticillata), a deciduous holly of 6 to 12 feet. Its brilliant fruit matures on female plants from late August to September and decorates the plant into early spring, providing a winter food source for 48 species of birds. An appropriately matched male plant can be grouped with as many as 6 to 10 females within 40 feet. 'Jim Dandy' and his red-fruited mate, 'Red Sprite' can be seen at the main entrance

President's Message

By Deborah Wood

And now we begin the final month of 2020! November has seen some bright spots, including the news that a vaccine for COVID-19 that has been tested and found to be 90 percent effective. But sadly, rising levels of infection have put the brakes on holiday gatherings, beginning with Thanksgiving. However different or small your Thanksgiving celebrations were this year, I hope they provided the opportunity to appreciate what matters most and makes you thankful.

The Barcroft community continues to pull together to navigate the challenges caused by the pandemic. As I write, the Barcroft PTA is organizing to provide Thanksgiving meals and extras for families suffering financially and emotionally from lost jobs, income, and support networks. The Outdoor Committee of the PTA is seeking the community's help to improve the school yard and make it a better classroom space option for teachers and students. Scott Brinitzer and Barcroft's landscaping committee have taken the opportunity while the Community House is closed to make improvements to the lawn. Thank you to all who have participated in these and other activities, which strengthen our community spirit and cushion the blows brought about by pandemic restrictions.

Understanding Your Flood Risk in Arlington

Flooding can be the most frequent and costly disaster in a community. The likelihood of flooding changes over time due to erosion, changing land use, changing weather patterns, and other factors. Nobody is exempt from flood risk - where it can rain, it can flood.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) is in the process of updating flood insurance rate maps (FIRM) for Arlington County. The new maps reflect current flood risk based on the latest data and a more accurate understanding of our area's topography. As a result, property owners throughout Arlington will have up-to-date, Internet-accessible information about flood risk to your property.

There are several ways to view the preliminary FIRM maps on the County's website, including links to FEMA's website: <https://environment.arlingtonva.us/flood-insurance-rate-maps/>. Even if your property is not in the special flood hazard area, you are still strongly recommended to purchase flood insurance. Over a 30-year time period, you are about three times more likely to have a flood in your home than a fire, and most homeowners' insurance policies do not provide coverage for damage due to flooding. To learn more about flood insurance rates and what options are available to you, we recommend that you contact your insurance agent.

An additional resource for property owners is www.floodsmart.gov, which provides information about the National Flood Insurance Policy (NFIP) and the costs of flood insurance. •

If you are having a hard time, do not hesitate to reach out to neighbors, the Barcroft School or PTA, the Barcroft School and Civic League, faith communities, or wherever you want to start. You can find someone willing to help, as that is what makes our community strong. Stay safe, and we will continue to get through this! •

Barcroft Elementary PTA December Update

By Beth Ragnauth

It's hard to believe our young learners have a full quarter of school under their belt already, distance learning style, of course. Halloween arrived, and we couldn't let the occasion pass without some festivity. PTA volunteers assembled small surprise bags with a Halloween-themed bingo card and some treats that students picked up, then opened at their class virtual celebrations on Friday, October 30. Barcroft administrators and some staff welcomed students who came to pick up lunch that day (some in festive costumes) and gave them a little candy treat as well.

Throughout the fall, families have had to keep up with the ever-changing plans for some Arlington Public Schools students to return to the school buildings. A very small number of students with special education needs are learning at school now as part of Phase 1 of APS's plan, which means six Barcroft students are back in our neighborhood school building. No additional students will be back in the classroom until Phase 2 begins, which as of now will be January at the earliest.

Our new Outdoor Committee is pursuing efforts to enhance schoolyard space in ways that will make it more conducive to spending class time outside, this year and beyond. If you have tree stumps or logs that could be repurposed for student seating, or plants you could donate to our garden, please contact Carrie Lombardi at calombardi3@gmail.com.

As the holidays arrive, we are keenly aware that this year is tougher for many of our families. Thank you to all the kind Barcrofters who donated to our winter coat drive and Thanksgiving food distribution. Our families are very sincerely appreciative of what we are able to provide with the contributions of our wonderful community. We are working on plans to support families for December holidays, so keep an eye out for BSCL chat emails for ways you can help! ●

Fall Greetings from Our Savior Lutheran School

By OSLS National Junior Honor Society

The children of Our Savior Lutheran School are excited for Christmas. Even though our students are unable to give a Christmas program for the community this year, each class is contributing to a virtual Christmas program which will be open for our school families. We are joyful that we can continue to celebrate the birth of Jesus with each other.

Each month, our school focuses on a character trait with our student body. The month of December is Humbleness. We often look at the coming holiday as a time of getting presents, but we also want to remind our children about the generosity of giving. Use this month to talk with the children around you about the importance of putting others first. What a blessing we can be to others!

Mark your calendars. Our Savior Lutheran School is holding an Open House for all prospective students and their parents on Saturday, January 16. At that time, applications will be accepted for the 2021-2022 school year for grades Pre K through 8th. Due to the unique circumstances surrounding this year, at this time, the decision has not been made on whether the Open House will be in-person or virtual. Please contact our school office at the beginning of January for more information about the Open House. OSLS was established in 1952 and has been providing an affordable, quality Christian education in Barcroft ever since. We are fully accredited and licensed, and during normal school years we offer before and after school care. OSLS is non-discriminatory. We are located at 825 South Taylor Street.

Many of us purchase items on Amazon.com. Did you know that if you go to Amazon.smile, you can purchase the same items and a small portion will be designated back to Our Savior Lutheran School as your designated charity when you sign on to Amazon.smile. Every time after that Amazon.smile will automatically contribute a portion of your purchase to our school. It's super easy. Thank you to everyone who supports us. ●

Musical Open House

Do you like to sing? Are you ready for some harmony in your life? Potomac Harmony Chorus Invites you to our Holiday Open House.

We welcome all women ages 13 and beyond, to join us (via Zoom) on Wednesday, December 16 at 7 p.m. for a fun evening of singing some old favorite songs and learning a couple of new ones. No pressure, no commitment, just come see what we're about. RSVP to openhouse@potomac-harmony.org by December 11 and we'll send you a welcome packet including the Zoom link. ● to the Glencarlyn Library Garden, while 'Winter Gold' with bright orange drupes and her partner 'Southern Gentleman' are located not far from the garden's 3rd Street entry path.

At ground level, Christmas Fern (Polystichum acrostichoides), located in the Glencarlyn Library Garden's shade garden, can be used under shrubs and trees, along shaded walls, on slopes, or in woodland and rock gardens. This plant, which gets its common name from its evergreen nature and its stocking-shaped pinnae, forms a circular, cascading clump of one half to two feet that increases over time, offering cover to songbirds. In the spring, its dark green, leathery fronds are renewed with silvery, scaled fiddleheads that some birds use in nest construction.

Editor's Note: Elaine Mills gave a talk on Climate Conscious Gardening at the November Barcroft Community Meeting. ●

How does the recent election and Covid 19 impact the recent estate market? The recent news that Joe Biden is now president-elect drew positive reactions from the real estate and mortgage industry, who see the upside for the housing market.

Biden's housing proposals include a $15,000 first-time homebuyer tax credit and he will focus on fair housing and affordable housing issues. Overall a Biden administration will favor the housing market.

Mortgage rates recently inched up after news of a promising COVID vaccine. The 30-year fixed-rate mortgage rose and is hovering around 3%. Rates were bottoming out around 2.5% in mid-October. They nudged up slightly and were flat while investors awaited the outcome of the presidential election. Mortgage rates are still at levels that would have seemed unbelievable not long ago. Last year at this time, 30-year rates were at 3.85%.

Now is actually a great time to buy in our local area before rates climb higher, since the inventory has grown slightly, especially with condos. Townhouses and single-family homes are still in shorter supply and more popular. There is still some competitive bidding, although instead of 8 to 10 offers on a hot property, we might see 2 or 3 contracts.

Have you considered making a move? If you are thinking of a new lifestyle, I'm glad to help with some strategic planning
